

The First 48 Hours

BE FIRST. BE RIGHT. BE CREDIBLE.

Notification

Use your crisis plan's notification list to ensure that your leadership is aware (especially if it comes from the media and not the EOC) of the emergency and that they know you are involved. Give leadership your first assessment of the emergency from a communication perspective and inform them of your next steps.

Coordination

Contact local, state, federal partners now. If there is potential for criminal investigation, contact your FBI counterpart now. Secure a spokesperson as designated in the plan. Initiate alert notification and call-in extra communication staff, per the plan. Connect with the EOC— make your presence known.

Media

Provide a statement indicating that your agency is aware of the emergency and is involved in the response. Begin monitoring media for misinformation that must be corrected. Tell the media when and where to get updates from your agency. Give facts. Don't speculate. Ensure partners are saying the same thing.

The Public

Prepare your public information toll-free number operation now if you anticipate that the public will seek reassurance or information directly from your organization. (You may adjust hours of operation and number of call managers as needed.) Use your initial media statement as your first message to the public. Remind people that a process is in place to mitigate the crisis. Begin public call monitoring to detect trends or rumors.

Partners/Stakeholders

Send a statement to partners and stakeholders using prearranged notification systems (preferably e-mail listservs). Engage your leadership to make important initial phone calls, based on your plan, to partners and key stakeholders. Use e-mail to notify employees that their agency is involved in the response and that updates will follow. Ask for their support.

Resources

Conduct the crisis risk assessment and implement assignments and hours of operation accordingly. Secure your pre-planned place in the EOC or adjoining area.

CRISIS+EMERGENCY RISK+COMMUNICATION

Quick Tips

- Express empathy and caring.
- Display honesty/openess.
- Show commitment/dedication.
- Know your organization's policies.
- Tell the truth.
- Stay on message.
- Acknowledge uncertainties.
- Stay in your lane (scope of responsibilities).
- Give people things to do.
- Don't over-reassure.
- Ask more of people. (share risk)
- Avoid jargon; use humor cautiously.
- Refute negatives without repeating them.
- Use positive terms.
- Don't assume you've made your point. Ask whether you've made yourself clear.
- Don't lead with messages about money.
- Avoid one-liners, cliches, and off-the-cuff comments.
- Discuss what you know, not what you think.

Failure to prepare is preparing to fail.

Important Reminders About Your CERC Plan

- Update the plan at regular intervals.
- Longer is not better; your plan is a reference tool not a step-by-step guide.
- Keep your plan simple and flexible.
